I am writing to apply my candidature to your office as an illustrator, designer.

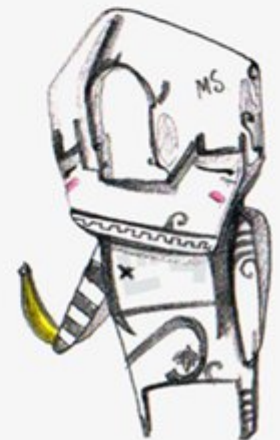

I'm graduated from the Vilnius College of Technologies and Design as a new speciality multimedia arts. From the very early age I have been interested in video games industry and computer technologies. I have been working constructing and creating concepts for upcoming and existing companies.

I enjoy making objects as a way of expressing my individuality, and pursuing my lifelong interest in illustration, design. I am passionate about working, delivering a message to the audience through the use of my imagery. I developed visual language, which have practised working as a freelance designer for almost 10 years. I realised, what I have to offered for the companies and excited about the potential.

I'm also impassioned about learning new skills and mixing them with my art. I would be enthusiastic about working in an environment where I can share my ideas and accommodate to the product that is creating. I delight challenging and hard working environments that can introduce me with something new.

I'm an extrovert, with the readiness to see possibility in anything new. Functions well within teamwork and like a challenge. I also easily adapt to new cultures and languages
